IRRIGATION OF THE WEST.

Mr. Newlands' Address and Why He Called Baggett a Liar.

The Pacific Coast Board of Commerce held a meeting at San Francisco last Friday, and the Bulletin reports a portion of the proceedings as follows:

A vote of thanks was extended to Senator Stewart, of Nevada, for his paper on "Irrigation."

F. G. Newlands was in attendance at the meeting of the Board, and gave an interesting address on the subject of "Irrigation." The speaker was firm in the belief that so far as the irrigation of arid lands in the different States by the general Government was concerned, it would amount to little or nothing. The only true solution of the question, in the opinion of Mr. Newlands, was that a bold stand should be taken by every State that has arid lands within its confines and demand of the general Government that the proprietorship of the arid lands should be vested in the States themselves. "There is no question in my mind," said the speaker, "that until the States secure these lands so as they may be properly irrigated, they will remain for all times what they are at present, namely, worthless wastes."

Turning from the subject of irrigation Mr. Newlands also spoke on the silver question and at the conclusion of his remarks he was greeted with applause.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Newlands for his address to the Board.

A communication was read from the San Francisco Mining Stock Association claiming that frauds have been committed on the Comstock lode which have been very detrimental to the best interests of the coast.

W. T. Baggett addressed the Board concerning the communication. He claimed that anything affecting the industry of mining affected every industry on this coast. The association named was for the purpose of protecting the interests of the stockholders in the mines. Their investigations have discovered the most stupendous frauds of the age.

Mr. Newlands took umbrage at some of the speaker's remarks and called him a liar. There was instant uproar, which resulted in calling Mr. Baggett, to order and checking his speech.

The following officers were chosen and then the Board adjourned: President, Samuel Collier, Tacoma; Vice Presidents, T. F. Osborne, of Portland, Barry Baldwin, of San Francisco, G. P. Cushing, of Tacoma, Major E. W. Jones, of Los Angeles, W. H. Mills, of the California State Board of Trade, F. A. Week of Eureka, Humboldt county, J. F. Wardner, of Fairhaven, Wash., C. T. Hopkins, of Pasadena, I. W. Case, of Astoria, M. C. Moore, of Walla Walla, Robert C. Walker, of Helena, Mont., Judge J. R. Lewis, of Seattle, J. I. Walker, of Salt Lake City, J. B. Mailing, of Aberdeen, J. P. Apperson, of Oregon City and F. G. Newlands, of Nevada; Secretary, T. C. Friedlander, of San Francisco, Treasurer, Sather Banking Company.

The Pig Pen.

The fresher and more succulent the food the more the hogs need salt to promote digestion and maintain health. When they run in pasture salt must be fed to them in some form. A good way is to prepare a mixture of salt, wood ashes, sulphur and perhaps a little fine ground bone and place it under shelter where the hogs can get at it as they may desire but cannot soil or waste it. If, instead of running in pasture, the hogs are confined, the same course may be pursued, but we believe it better to salt, as far as can be done conveniently, the food which is fed to them, instead of luring it into the stomach in raw doses. This is the way man does and finds it much pleasanter, if not better, than to eat it clear. We believe the same holds good with the whole animal creation as well as with man. There can be no material difference so far as the physical system is concerned. In such matters human experience should serve as a guide until we can find a better one.

Corn as a summer food for hogs is not a success. It is too heating and wasteful. An Indiana feeder gives, in the Swineherd, his experience in feeding a lot of seventeen hogs from June 2d to June 28—a period of twenty-six days. When the experiment began they weighed a total of 3,270 pounds an average of 193 pounds each. During the twenty-six days they were fed sixty-nine bushels of corn, which made 720 pounds of live weight, worth 3½ cents a pound, or $25.20. The sixty-nine bushels of corn were worth 35 cents a bushel, or $24.15. This shows a money loss of 75 cents, besides the time, trouble and interest on the investment. The more business of this kind a farmer does the poorer he gets. We have no doubt that if brae, middlings, oats or some other nutritious food had been fed with half the corn there would have been a much more favorable showing. In such a case it will always pay to sell half the corn and put the proceeds into some more nutritious feed than corn to be fed with it.

The "Placer County Politics" chestnut editorial is too diaphanous. The Gazette need not deal in parables. It should say Foley instead of Jones, and Dawson whenever it wants Mr. Foley is the candidate of the business men of Washoe for State Senator, and the men who pay the taxes are interested in having him in that body to work for them. Washoe needs an active and energetic man for State Senator, and Foley is just the man for the place.

The Lyon County Times says: Again we would call the attention of the Republican County Convention to the advisability of pledging the nominees for Assemblymen to vote against any plan that may be concocted to dismember Lyon County. It may be that no effort of this kind will be made, but if it is not tried it will only be for the want of assistance the promoters of such a scheme will have. The men selected for the Assembly should be men who have more than a working interest in the county and who are in a position that no one can go to them and say, do this and so or off goes your head.

Cracking of Fruit.

A very little rain or a short immersion water will often cause plums, tomatoes, grapes, cherries, etc., to crack. Many theories have been advanced regarding the cause, but the following from the New Orleans Times-Democrat, seems to explain the matter in a very lucid way: If a bladder filled with syrup be immersed in a vessel of water the water will, after a while, become sweet; the syrup passes through the membrane of the bladder into the water, and correspondingly the water passes into the interior of the bladder. But this interchange is not an equal one; the lighter liquid—the water—passes in many times more rapidly than the heavier liquid—the syrup passes out. The consequence will be that the bladder will be distended to its utmost, and at length burst. A ripe tomato or plum may be considered, in the condition of the bladder of syrup. The rich juices of the fruit correspond to the syrup, and the thin membrane which forms the skin of the fruit represents the bladder. When the ripe fruit is kept constantly wet by a rain or dews, the water, passing constantly through into the fruit, distends the skin, which, not being very strong, is soon ruptured. If the fruit were to be surrounded by a liquid denser than its juices it would, instead of expanding and breaking, shrink, and the skin become shriveled. When strawberries or blackberries are sprinkled with sugar a syrup is soon formed by some of the juice of the fruit, and this being considerably denser than the juices of the berries, they are soon flabby and shriveled.

The Sheep Fold.

Before cold weather sets in the flock should be gone over carefully and culled. All weaklings, ewes, averages, and all that are defective or ailing in any way should be removed and prepared for the shambles, if not already fit for this purpose, as they ought to be if they have had a good run of pasture. As a rule, it will not pay to keep ewes after they have attained full growth, as the only return for them is wool, and the longer they are kept the poorer mutton they make. The wool at current prices will hardly pay for keep. But with ewes the case is different. So long as they are healthy and strong, breed well and make good mothers, they are profitable to keep. They have been known to do well until twelve to fifteen years of age. Very few will fail to be profitable until six or eight years of age. See that their unders are all right and they are in good health and let them run. Of course a young flock of ewes has in it more of the elements of life and endurance and makes a fine appearance, but good ewes ought not to be hastily sacrificed to any foolish notions about age. Some are practically younger at eight than others are when four or five years old. A good constitution is a safe thing to depend on.

Breeding for Sex.

When I embarked in a Jersey dairy, and realized the advantages of raising a large per cent. of females, having heard that the formula was to serve the cow in the early stage of the heat, and have the bull wrought up to a high state of excitement, I worked on this programme as faithfully as I could. And what was the result of my first year's experience? Why, of twelve calves, nine were bulls! From this I became disgusted, voted the sentence of the thing a humbug, and for the next season, I went in on the let-her-rip system. And strange as it may seem, of sixteen calves, but one was a male. Then for the next year, from the same bull, I had about twice as many heifers. Then I changed bulls, and for the next several years I was so fortunate as to have about twice as many females as males. And curiously enough, again, I now have another bull, who for the first season has produced so far nothing but females.—Correspondent Hoard's Dairyman.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? It so send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. feb. 21-awf-y

A Demand for Soubrettes.

The New York Sun says that owing to the unusual number of light opera companies organized or organizing to travel, an exceptional demand for chorus girls has arisen. One manager advises for 100 "soubrettes," and considerable difficulty is experienced in equipping the troupes that have to set out early.

Elko School Children.

The Lyon County Times says: Two of the Republican nominees for Reclamation Commissioners are present incumbents who were appointed by the Governor, and who have done nothing with the $100,000 that was appropriated by the Legislature two years ago for water storage purposes. If the men do not make any more of a bustle for election than they have to start a water storage system they will find themselves in the minority next November.

Arizona Joe.

The Toledo Blade speaks as follows of the performance to-night: The rain made no difference with the attendance at the People's Theater last night. The house was well filled, and the galleries packed. The attraction was the romantic border drama, "Black Hawks." Like the minstrel show, the border drama is a distinctly American production and cannot be criticised by any known rules of acting. It is simply a representation of wild western life. The entertainment last night was a good representation of such life. There were barrels of powder burned, scores of men killed, stage robberies, bandit caves, concert saloons, mining camps—none of the luxuries of western life were omitted. The star was Arizona Joe, who did some remarkable feats of marksmanship with a rifle. Besides a regular company, there are two broncho ponies, a donkey and a number of trained dogs. The gallery was wild, and it is safe to say the theater will do a big business through the week.

Reno Fair.

This is from the Lyon County Times of last Saturday: The Reno Fair begins next Monday and will last the entire week. The management of the Fair has taken extra pains this year to make the show one of the best ever given in the State. It is too bad that none of our Lyon county stock owners or farmers have taken trouble enough to have Lyon represented at this Fair. They have thrown away a rare opportunity to advertise their stock and the county's products. There is some talk of running a special car from here to the Mount House to connect with the Fair train from Virginia some day next week, and possibly the mills may shut down and the business houses close on that day to allow employees and clerks to attend. This is what should be done. Next year Lyon should also have a member on the Board of Directors who would take interest enough in the matter to see that our county has an exhibit at Reno.

The Carson Appeal states that a gentleman on the inside says that on election day the voters will find three candidates for State Senator in the field from Ormsby county.

Which is the fairest, a rose or a lily? Which is the sweetest, a peach or a pear? Merry's coquette, and charming is Milly; Doris is gentle and fair. Her sweet as a flower was her face when I kissed (Love is the romance and glory of life) Milly, my playmate, I love "like a sister." But Doris I choose for my wife.

That's right, young man, many the girl you love, by all means, if she have you. Should her health become delicate and her beauty fade after marriage, remember that this is due to functional weakness, irregularities, or painful disorders peculiar to her sex, in the cure of which Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic, or strength-giver.

For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated, teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic, or strength-giver.

BREVITIES.

Second day of the Fair.
"Arizona Joe" is all right.
Looks natural to see Joe Stewart around.
The tin-horn gamblers are here in force.
Supt. Jerry Whitcomb took in the races yesterday.
Frank Engstrom and family are in from Beowawe.
For window glass, all sizes, go to Lange & Schmitt.
Jas. Jewell, of the Comstock, is here enjoying the Fair.
G. T. Bender returned from Sacramento yesterday morning.
The State is perfectly safe in the hands of Acting Governor Bell.
Schroeder & Co. are handling the bar at the track in a No. 1 manner.
The Tuscarora Jockey Club will have some good races next month.
Nearly all the colts in Mason valley are suffering from the distemper.
The assessable property in Lyon county this year foots up to $1,421,812.
A. J. Clark's new and fine hotel, "The Clarendon," will be opened tomorrow.
The Reese River Jockey Club will have races at Austin, October 9th, 10th and 11th.
F. G. Newlands and wife and Secretary Frohman returned from the Bay Sunday.
The boys (and girls) are glad to see Tommy Keating and his first horse, Frank M.
The Elko Knights of Pythias will probably give a Thanksgiving ball in November.
R. T. Brenham, Agent of the great Manhattan Life Insurance Co., is taking in the Fair.
If you want a bird's-eye view of Reno call at the Journal office and buy it for a dollar.
"Play your money in the French."
That's what some of the boys yell out at the track.
The old veteran, Dan Dennison, is here.
Prof. J. E. (Tigou) and wife are over from Carson.
Mrs. L. W. Lee, Frank M., Eugene and Ben, the boys, have returned from the Sacramento Fair.
Mrs. J. M. Campbell, of the Enterprise, is reporting the Fair for that paper. Her reports are always the best.
A. E. Cheney, of Eureka, Republican nominee for District Judge, and a good man to vote for, is here attending the Fair.
Go to Lange & Schmitt for heating stoves, cook stoves, ranges and house furnishing goods. Largest variety and best values.
John Cahlan and wife, both former Renosites, are in from Las Vegas, attending the Fair. John looks as natural and is as good as ever.
Rufus Shogren, editor of the Grass Valley Telegraph, has been elected President of the Central California Press Association.
The campaign in Elko county is going to be short and sharp, as both Central Committees seem inclined to set the conventions late.
Sam Davis has been cremated out of the ice chest and will be at the Fair just as funny because of his trip to the other and better world.
Of course John Piper, and the theatrical attractions he favors the public with this week are the very best ever given you Fair week. Don't miss a night unless you are forced into other engagements.
The military display will take place on Friday, per order of Acting Governor Bell. The Comstock mines will close down on that day, and of course everybody from Virginia will come down and enjoy the sport.

GOV. STEVENSON DEAD.

The Body to be Taken to Oakland for Interment.

Gov. C. C. Stevenson died last Saturday night. The body will lie in State at Carson to-morrow, and to-morrow evening will be taken to Oakland for interment on Thursday. The remains will be escorted by members of his staff, and some of the State officers. Governor Stevenson has been sick for nearly two months, but his illness only took a serious turn two weeks ago.

The Governor came to Nevada in early days. He was twice elected a State Senator from Storey, was President of the Agricultural Society for two terms, and defeated Jewett Adams for Governor in 1886. He had also been a member of two National Republican Conventions, and filled other positions of honor and trust. He was a man of strong convictions, and his impulses were generally right. He was always a devoted friend of Washoe county and the best interests of the State. His errors were of the head, and the Journal regrets that he has so soon been called away from a life of usefulness.

Miles Aroon.

Scout and his company had a splendid welcome last night, the Opera House being crowded both in dress circle and gallery. The performance pleased the vast audience from beginning to end, every part being well played, and Scout at his best. His acting and singing elicited round after round of applause.

THE STATE'S IRRIGATION SCHEME.

TRYING TO OPEN THE DOOR TO SETTLERS.

Silver Legislation Has Given a New Lease of Life and Bright Prospects.

Sunday's San Francisco Chronicle contains this:

"State Senator M. D. Foley, of Nevada, was in town a few days ago and gave a reporter some interesting facts concerning the situation and prospects of the Silver State. The local effect of the recent silver legislation and the prospects of the great irrigation schemes which have recently become prominent in Nevada and on which the future of the State so largely depends were the main points discussed.

"The leading men of Nevada, especially those composing the State Board of Trade, are working with the plan and hope of getting the public and railroad land in the possession of the State. If this is accomplished the State itself will build extensive irrigation systems and start an effort on a large scale to induce settlement of the reclaimed valleys of the State now unproductive.

"It was with this in view," said Mr. Foley, "that we corresponded with our representatives in Congress and secured the introduction by Senator Stewart of the bill now pending providing for the cession of all public lands to the States in which they lie. Public sentiment in Nevada entirely approves the plan. If the State can secure control of these lands it will borrow the $1,000,000 now in the treasury belonging to the school fund at a low rate of interest, bonds being issued for account.

The money would be spent in bringing the water to one large section of land, and when made so available for settlement and cultivation the land would be sold at low prices and very easy terms to settlers and the proceeds invested elsewhere in the same way. The whole scheme would involve the expenditure of millions, but it would be a good investment from every point of view. The money and the benefits derived from it would thus be kept within the State. If this plan can be carried out Nevada should have 500,000 inhabitants ten years from now instead of 50,000, and instead of $20,000,000 worth of taxable property it should have from $250,000,000 to $300,000,000.

"Nevada has an immense amount of land which if supplied with water would raise anything grown in any State in the Union, under the same climatic conditions. Its agricultural products now are unexcelled. Our wheat and barley took first prizes at New Orleans, and no finer deciduous and small fruits are grown anywhere in the United States. Irrigation some day will make Nevada a great agricultural and horticultural State. The first irrigating done on a large scale will naturally be in the valley of the Truckee and adjoining valleys.

"There are now between 30,000 to 50,000 acres in cultivation in what is known as the Truckee meadows, in the valley of that river. There are 25,000 acres more waiting for water. There are from 150,000 to 200,000 acres in this valley and in the Prerise, Spanish Springs, Lemmon's, Warm Springs and other small adjoining valleys. The water for all this territory can readily be drawn from Lake Tahoe, whose outlet is through Nevada, and whose waters naturally belong to that State. It is estimated that enough water to irrigate 200,000 acres, if stored, has run to waste through the Truckee river this year. The waters of this region could be easily stored and one big system would irrigate all the valleys mentioned.

"There is also an immense amount of land in the valleys of the Carson and Humboldt rivers, which, if supplied with water, could be wonderfully productive, and which would be rapidly settled. There is another condition which would be favorable to agricultural settlement of the State if the lands were made ready, and that is that producers would find a home market. The mining camps are mainly supplied with necessities from California and the East, and there is thus a large home market waiting for producers.

"If the State can secure control of the arid lands, all this will be carried out as speedily as possible. If it does not succeed in this direction, every possible aid and encouragement will be given to private capital to provide the irrigation, which is a vital necessity to the State. Frank G. Newlands, who is President of our State Board of Trade, has taken a very active part in this agitation, and as trustee of the Shoshone estate, has bought large quantities of arid lands already which he is ready to turn over to the State, if the efforts to secure the public arid lands are successful. If this is not done it is expected that he and others will succeed in interesting private capital on a large scale. The future of the State depends upon its securing a large agricultural population, and this depends entirely on the future of irrigation there. Hence this is the great problem of the State, and its leading men are thoroughly alive to it.

"It is my opinion that the condition of the State has reached its lowest ebb and that its prosperity will steadily increase in the future. The people are jubilant over the success of the recent silver legislation, and are very grateful to the Republican party for providing it. Its effect in the State will be revivifying, and the people feel that they have secured a new lease of life. With the increase in the price of silver the output will be greatly increased. There are immense deposits of low-grade ore on the Comstock which it would not pay to work with silver at 92 cents which, with silver at $1.18, can be worked at a profit, and the same thing is true of the Eureka, Austin, Tuscarora, Pioche and other districts. Many mines which have been closed will now be reopened. The result will be a great increase in the output of silver and an increase in the mining population. This will create better markets, stimulate other industries and increase the prosperity of the State generally. Altogether the prospects of the State are very much brighter than for a long time past."

THE FAIR.

The State Fair opened yesterday with beautiful weather and a fair attendance, and for the first day averaged a well with former fairs.

The Judges at the track were M. D. Foley, W. O. H. Martin and John R. Bradley.

The first race was a mile dash between Norma, Rolly Bolly, Jackson and Condon, and was won by Rolly Bolly in 1:44. Owing to Condon's obstinacy several false starts were made. In the pool Nerva was favorite, Rolly Bolly second, Jackson third.

The second race was a dash of 1/2 mile with Boots' Daks of Milpitas and Sir Walter selling as a stable for $30 to $20 for Winters' Black Bart. The latter had two or three lengths the best of the start, but walked away from the others all the same, winning in 1:04 1/2, Sir Walter second.

The third race was a dash of a mile and a quarter, and was a good one between Applause, Hotspur, Princess of Norfolk and Nabean, but was won handily by Applause, the favorite in the pools at $25, Princess bringing $15 and the other two in the field at $6. Time, 2:11.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME.

Thomas W. Keene's Great Success.

Thomas W. Keene is very pleasantly experiencing this season the truth of the old adage that nothing succeeds like success for whenever he has appeared he has been greeted with large audiences and with what is equally dear to the actor's heart, enthusiastic applause. His great success has been in Richard III, Louis XI and Richelieu. A noted Western critic writing of Mr. Keene's playing of the wily Cardinal says: "The personation was marked by a realism at times almost painful. The partial giving way of physical strength, the phenomenal revivals of energy, the alternations of strength and weakness and the involved process of a marvellously vigorous and alert mind as played upon by ambition, patriotism, love, sense of justice, loyalty, suspicion, all were portrayed with great vividness, and the portrayal was sustained by a wealth of elocutionary powers in the enjoyment of which at times the actor seemed to fairly revel. The chamber scene in Richelieu's castle, with which Act III closed, was a noble piece of acting recalling traditions of 'great ones long gone by.' The course scene in Act IV and the approaches were artistically climacteric and when the climax was reached there was upon the faces of the audience a hushed eagerness which told that the actor had caught the spirit of the author. The most touching appeal of the cast off old Cardinal to the King who had been long and loyally served, and the resistless force with which he rallied and reasserted his power over the King, was another fine piece of acting. The beautiful passages with which the play abounds, well interpreted by a voice full of sympathy and a mind keenly alive to the fine shades of emphasis."

Mr. Keene will be seen in Reno in his favorite personation of the Cardinal, Saturday night of this week.

The Indian School.

Superintendent Gibson expects to have the Indian School at Clear Creek, in Ormsby county, ready for occupancy early in November. There will be accommodations for 150 pupils, who will be boarded, clothed and educated at the expense of the Government. It is expected the Pintos, Shoshones and Washoes will furnish the full number of children.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla a peculiar curative power. No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. It is a Peculiar Medicine, and is worthy your confidence. Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

AUBREY'S FAMOUS RIDE.

A feat that has been accomplished by a physical endurance rider, and which has been accomplished in the most remarkable manner.

The greatest physical feat of the century, as John F. Graham, "the greatest rider of the century," has been accomplished in the most remarkable manner.

Aubrey, from the place of Santa Fe, N. M., to the public square at Independence, Mo., a distance of nearly eight hundred miles, through a country inhabited by warlike Indians, a large part of which was then a sandy desert.

Being urged to give an account of the great ride, Graham proceeded.

It was about the year 1881 that Aubrey gave his wonderful test of human endurance, before which all other attempts of the kind pale into insignificance. He was a short, heavy-set man 30 years of age, in the prime of manhood and strength. His business was as a Santa Fe trader, and he had made him perfectly familiar with the trail and all the stopping places. He was a perfect horseman, and although there were great riders in those days, none of them dared to dispute the palm with Aubrey. On a wager of $1,000 he undertook to ride alone from Santa Fe to Independence in six days. It was thirty-nine years ago that he undertook the terrible feat. It was to be the supreme test of his life, and he sent a half dozen of the swiftest horses ahead to be stationed at different points for use in the ride.

He left Santa Fe in a sweeping gallop and that was the pace he kept up during nearly every hour of the time until he fell, fainting from his worn-out horse in the square at Independence. No man could keep with the rider, and he would have killed every horse in the western world to have failed in the undertaking. It took him just five days and thirteen hours to perform the feat and it cost the lives of several of his best horses. After being carried into a room at the old hotel at Independence Aubrey lay for forty-eight hours in a deep stupor before he came to his senses. He would never have recovered from the shock had it not been for his wonderful constitution. The feat was unanimously regarded by western men as the greatest exhibition of strength and endurance ever known on the plains.

"What became of Aubrey afterward?" was asked.

"After his ride he became the lion of the west and was dined and feted at St. Louis as though he had been a conquering hero. He finally met his death at the hand of a friend. One day in 1884, in an altercation with Maj. Richard H. Weightman, the great rider was stabbed to the heart and dropped dead in Santa Fe. He was buried in an unknown grave and all that is remembered of Aubrey is his remarkable ride. Weightman was tried upon the charge of murder, but was acquitted, and joining the Confederate army was shot at Wilson's Creek while leading his brigade into battle."—Denver News.

Jokes of Business Men.

A well known lawyer and his broker friend dropped their hats into the glass aquarium on the city hall elevated station, and as the lawyer stopped to buy the evening paper he jerked down and plucked his friend's back the large yellow placard placed under the latest editions and reading, "Out Today."

"Hello, how long have you been out of Sing Sing?" said a friend, plucking the broker familiarly on the back.

The broker laughed when shown the card, but insisted on keeping it. The incident had been forgotten when one day the broker struck his head into his friend's office and said: "Better come down the Sound fishing today."

"Can't possibly do it," answered the lawyer. "Have made an engagement to meet some clients here on important business." "All right," said his friend. The lawyer waited in vain for his clients. He heard several people approach the office, but no one entered, and when he left the office he saw a huge yellow placard on his door reading "Out Today." The smile he tried to give was a failure. —New York Times.

The Bob Cook Stroke.

"Bob Cook's stroke is the result of Bob Cook's exhaustive study of a man from his heels to the crown of his head," said a member of the Yale nine. "I have watched his work with our crew very carefully. Everybody is familiar with the success he has achieved, but it is not generally realized that what is known as the Bob Cook stroke is not an accidental discovery by this prince of athletes, but is the result of years of painstaking and exhaustive study on the general subject of the physical possibilities of the human frame in athletics. The stroke today is a masterpiece of genius which has solved the problem of imparting the greatest amount of force to the end of a long oar by the least possible expenditure of strength. That is rather a sophomoric statement, but it covers the grounds of Bob Cook's life work."—New York World.

How to Keep Oysters.

There is an ingenious device for keeping oysters good in the shell for several weeks after they have been taken from the water. Hitherto this has been done unsatisfactorily by boring holes through the edges of the shells and locking in the oysters with bits of twisted wire. By the new scheme the edges of the shells are dipped into plaster of paris mixed with certain chemicals that make it harden quickly. In a few minutes the oyster is hermetically sealed, and so strong is the cement that not even the most muscular mollusk can manage to get a breath of fresh air after having been subjected to this process.—Exchange.

Two years ago George Croft, of Oshkosh, Wis., loaned a friend $10, to be returned by mail. Soon after he got a letter asking if he had received the money. Croft replied no. A short time after he received a letter with the $10 in it, and the friend declared he had once before sent the money. Not long since Croft received the first letter containing $10, which was sent Aug. 17, 1888, to Oshkosh, and had lain there two years.

Reckless Cycling.

There have been quite a number of serious accidents—some attended by fatal consequences—through people being ridden over by cyclists. In all of these cases the evidence goes to indicate excessive speed as the prime cause. There is a pace, especially when going down hill, which practically deprives the rider of all control over his machine. He can guide it, but that is all. As for pulling up quickly, as well might the engine driver of an express train attempt to do so. Nor even in this matter of guiding has the cyclist a free hand. Any large deviation from the straight line of his course would, if he were pelting along at the rate of eighteen or twenty miles an hour, inevitably cause an upset. He has nothing for it, therefore, but to trust to luck and the chapter of accidents, which he does with a sang froid that would be truly admirable were it not so largely tinged with recklessness.

When he mounts to the brow of a steep hill and looks down at the decline stretching out before him he knows perfectly well that if he once allows his steel steed to "take charge" there can be no attempt to pull up until the bottom is reached. Equally aware is he that by timely application of the brake, and by "back pedaling" the machine can be kept at a moderate pace, admitting of guidance and of stopping. But because it is a pleasant rush downhill at the speed of a racer without any exertion he takes his feet off the pedals, sets his teeth tight and, to use his own expression, "lets her slide." The result is that if any pedestrian chances to block his way—being perhaps too deaf to hear the warning bell—a fearful collision takes place, and one or the other is killed. Cyclists have yet to learn, apparently, that the responsibility of keeping clear of people on foot rests on the drivers of vehicles.—London Graphic.

In Sleep.

An old resident in Vermont tells the following story, belonging to his past experience as a country postmaster.

It happened one spring when the mud was almost up to the horse's knees that we had no mail for three days. The consequence was that the three days' batch, consisting of nine bags, came in late one night as I was about going to bed. I determined to delay distribution until morning, and fell asleep rather harassed at the thought of so large a task.

Next day I rose early and went into the office to open my mail bags. They were gone! The corner where I always left them was quite empty, and my heart began to beat loud and fast. The mail had been delivered to me, I was responsible for it, and it was not to be found.

Presently, as I stared about the big drops of sweat gathering on my forehead, I noticed small packages of letters lying in the places where I was accustomed to leave them before sending them out into the several districts by the farmers who came to town. I looked further; the mail was all distributed. Then I turned to the spot where I always throw the empty bags after finishing my work. There they lay, collapsed and empty.

Now you know exactly as much about this story as I know myself. It seems very evident to me that I rose in my sleep, impressed by the unusual task before me, and finished it mechanically. I had never been asleep a walker before and I never did such a thing again.—Youth's Companion.

A Mountain of Salt.

A mass of 90,000,000 tons of pure, solid, compact rock salt, located on an island 185 feet high, which rises from a miserable sea marsh on the route from Brashear to New Iberia, up the river Teche in Louisiana, is one of the wonders of the world. How this island, which contains over 800 acres of excellent land, ever came into existence in such a locality is a matter of conjecture. Vegetation is prolific and the scenery is beautiful and varied. In the center of this island, which is the only solid spot in the vast expanse of sea marsh for miles around, rises Salt peak, the largest body of exposed rock salt in the world. Having never been surveyed, its exact extent is as yet unknown. However, Engineer Brown, who has visited it, says that there is not less than 90,000,000 tons of pure crystal salt in sight. The dazzling clearness of Salt peak forms a striking contrast with somber lagoons, bayous and salt marshes which surround it on all sides.—St. Louis Republic.

A Much Discussed Question.

One of his children had produced a dinner table sensation by offering a grammatical correction of the language used by the head of the house to the effect that the phrase should not be "It is I," but should be "It is me." A challenge of the accuracy of this view brought out the further statement, that the educational authorities to which this child owed school room allegiance had determined that "It is him" and "It is her" were not permissible expressions, smacking of vulgarity, but that "It is me" had become established in this country by "usage," and was therefore the correct form. I had an opportunity to refer this matter to the professional educator of whom I spoke the other day, and I confess his reply was a stunner: "Well, that case has received a great deal of discussion among us."—Boston Post.

A Newsboys' Game.

The newsboys frequenting the City Hall park at night have invented a new sort of baseball game, which they play when the "sparrow" policemen are not about. They usually choose the long, brightly lighted wall in front of the city hall for the game, and nearly every night they attract a crowd of pedestrians by their play. The difference between their game and the real game is that instead of throwing and batting, a ball they place it on the ground and the boy whose "inning" it is rushes along and kicks the sphere as far as he can, after which he scampers to a base. The rest of the game is the same as baseball, and the little fellows seem to enjoy it hugely.—New York Star.

INSURANCE.

THE MANHATTAN

Insurance Company.

Assets, $12,000,000.

The history of the past has proven beyond a question that an endowment policy in a life insurance company is a much

BETTER INVESTMENT

than a savings bank, FIDAT, because it is very much safer—as the law of the State of New York requires every life insurance company to keep a

Reserve in First-Class Securities

Equal to its liabilities, dollar for dollar, SECOND, in case of death while making these small deposits the life insurance company will pay, just when most needed by the family, the

Full Amount

Of the sum insured, amounting to 10, 20, or even 50 times as much as has been deposited; or on the

Return Premium

Plan of the MANHATTAN, they would do even more than this, for they would at death pay the face of the policy and in addition all the deposits (premiums) paid, while the savings bank would only return the amounts actually deposited with interest. Who would not purchase a valuable piece of property—a farm for example—worth $10,000, if he could have twenty years to pay for it, in small sums of $300 per annum with interest on deferred payments and without any tax on it? The $300 per year being only 3 per cent of the $10,000—a sum not much greater than that paid annually for taxes on property in hand, or the same cost and especially if he could have the further conditions specially stated in the contract, let that be it, he is while making these payments—even after one only has been made—

No Further Payments Shall be Required

And the full title in fee simple to the entire farm shall at once be given to his family, and all that if at any time after the three years during the twenty years he shall be unable to continue the payments and from sickness or any misfortune, that then he could discontinue any further payments and have in fee simple such portions of the farm as he has paid for, thus, if one-fourth of the payments had been made, he would own one separate fourth of the farm, etc., and at the same time the farm be entirely free from all claims of creditors, under all circumstances, not even to be reached by writ of execution or attachment issued by any court, while if living to the end of the twenty years and the annual payments have been made, the

Entire Property in Fee Simple

Is secured.

Now the MANHATTAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY offers all this and more, for instead of offering LAND on these terms, which is often eaten up by legal expenses and fees in case of the death of the purchaser or swallowed up by a mortgage given to secure deferred payments, thus leaving the whole amount paid in and leaving the family destitute, or dependent, it offers a

of First-Class Securities.

Agreeing to pay MONEY on the same terms and conditions as above—the cost per year varying at different ages, but otherwise substantially the same terms as above stated, while the sum to be paid at the end of twenty years will be increased by dividends and compounded interest for the full term, thus making the investment a very PROFITABLE and ADVANTAGEOUS one.

Inquiries concerning the bonds of this company will receive prompt reply if addressed to

PLATFORM AND RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by the Republican State Convention held at Virginia City, Nevada, September 4, 1890.

The record of the Republican party is its best platform.

No political party in human history has taken such advanced positions for the equality of races, the needs of business, none has so managed the affairs of a State as to encourage the development of a content, none has so elevated a nation and so contributed to the happiness of man, none has so honestly and economically carried on the routine duties of office.

In all things it has been the direct opposite of the Democratic party. Grand in its ambitions and impulses, firm and resolute in its consistency, strong in its devotion to principle, it is now, as it has been from birth, the representative of all that is noblest and best in its own country and hope and promise of a better future for the human race.

Its battles for human rights, its preservation of the Union, its abolition of slavery, its protection to labor, its elevation of manufacturers, its upholding of the National credit, its efforts in behalf of honest financial methods, its domestic system, and its devotion to popular education have made for it the greatest record of any political organization this or any other country ever had.

The names of its heroes are legion, and the deeds of Fremont, Lincoln, Grant and Garfield will shine like electric lights on the pages of history.

The Republicans of Nevada, in convention assembled, heartily indorse the acts of the Fifty-first Congress, which has made greater advances in correct and needed legislation than any since the war. The crime of filibustering, so often resorted to by the Democratic party for the purpose of defeating legislation and blocking the wheels of government, has been done away with by the genius of Reed, McKinley and their associates, and the offenders taught that Congressmen are paid by the people for making good laws and not for making a record that will lead nation to free country and disarm all opposition among financiers.

It has taken up the work of a readjustment of the tariff in a patriotic and business like way, such as will protect the interests of labor and at the same time encourage capital to enterprises that will furnish it with employment at good wages. New States which were denied their rights before have been added to the Union, and the grip of Tammany Hall upon the Presidency broken.

Trusts that grew rank under Cleveland's Administration have been broken up and made to obey the laws of honest commerce.

Efforts are being made to prevent or punish frauds and intimidations in elections.

A navy has been provided for and suitable pensions granted to prevent suffering among the sick and wounded heroes of the war.

Provision is being made for the reclamation of the arid regions, where the Republican policy of free homes and free schools can be extended.

Unhallowed and greedy are being restored to the public domain and the land thrown open to settlement, and in all things the pledges of the National platform are being amply redeemed.

We indorse the Administration of President Harrison and commend his conservative course as striking in contrast with his predecessor's office. During the former Administration silver and wheat touched the lowest price ever known, and farmers burned their corn for fuel. Trusts were stimulated, finances disarranged, strikes prevailed, the mail service was demoralized and business almost stopped instead of being encouraged by the methods of the Government, whose whole business should be to benefit the country.

To-day silver, wheat and all the products of labor are rapidly rising, and while the Democratic officials may perhaps be innocent of intentionally destroying our prosperity they are culpable for the results of blunders as they would be for crimes under President Harrison, and contract labor are kept out of our country.

We encourage the farmer who is encouraged by a depreciation of the price of his product, and we encourage the miner who is encouraged by a depreciation of the price of his product, and we encourage the laborer who is encouraged by a depreciation of the price of his product.

We pledge our confidence to a system of State improvements which shall save the water now running to waste and devise means to secure its use in the irrigation of fertile lands now lying idle.

We indorse the measure introduced by Senator Stewart proposing to cede the lands within our lines to the State for the purpose of aiding to improve our water storage and irrigating systems, and we appeal to Congress and the President to grant this much needed aid.

We indorse the course of our Senators and Representatives in Congress, and commend their efforts to establish, on a better basis, the use of silver as money and thereby our uncomparably demand for the gold and silver of both gold and silver and their equal value to our National currency.

WHEREAS, The practice of letting mail contracts in this State to non residents thereof, who seek and obtain such contracts only for the purpose of subverting the same has resulted in an inferior and unimpaired mail service.

Resolved, That our delegation in Congress be requested to procure, if possible, the enactment of a law to prevent such abuses in the future.

We are in favor of the improvement of the wages of American labor by restricting immigration from foreign countries, a thorough revision of our naturalization and land laws, the construction of railroads and coast defenses, the restoring of free schools and popular education, the enforcement of a free ballot and a fair count, cherishing the defenders of our country, the protection of every citizen at home and abroad, the fostering of a policy that will extend our commerce, the settling of all foreign complications by arbitration, and liberal appropriations by Congress for the construction of water reservoirs and a system of irrigation.

Resolved, That we are in favor of the Australian system of ballot.

Resolved, That as the coming election the question as to whether or not a Constitutional Convention will be held is to be submitted to the people, that we earnestly invite a calm and thoughtful discussion of the question during the campaign.

Resolved, That it is the policy of the Republican party of Nevada to secure all safe and possible retirement in public affairs, and especially in dispensing with unnecessary offices and use of deputies in adjusting affairs upon a basis of efficiency, decreasing the present number of members of the Legislature, in the reduction of taxation and in consolidating county offices and diminishing county expenses, and to this end we pledge the nominees of the convention and earnestly ask that the nominees of the several county conventions be likewise of this led.
